My dear Mrs.Blaisdell:

I have looked over the coins belonging to the late Dr.Talbott Williams, and would like to keep about sixty-five of them. I understand that you told my assistant that we could make a selection. Do you wish us to send the remainder to you, and if so, do you want our man to bring them down to you?

Thanking you for remembering our Museum,

Yours very sincerely,

Curator.

My dear Mr. Wood,

We are delighted that you have found even as many as sixty. We wish that you would care to have.

I should much appreciate any suggestion you might have for disposing of the rest. If you feel there are any that might have even a small sale value I should be glad to know of it. Perhaps you could also tell me of some smaller museum that might be glad of even humble coins.

Sincerely yours

Dorothy Blandell

My dear Mrs. Blaisdell:

Please pardon the delay in answering your letter of the 5th. I really do not know where you could dispose of your coins for sufficient return to make it worth-while; so little is known of Mohammedan coins and there are so few collectors of such pieces, that there is little demand for them. As for Museums, there are so few as such in this country that make any pretense of collecting, that I am at a loss to suggest a good place that you might send the coins for them to make a selection. The National Museum in Washington might be interested, but unfortunately there is no one there who knows enough to intelligently look them over. If you can think of nothing better, why not leave them here? From time to time there might be someone who would be glad to have a few of these pieces.

Very truly yours,

Curator.

April 25,

Dear Mr. Wood,

If it is not imposing on you, we should be very glad to have you keep the rest of the coins from Dr.
Talcott Williams collection.
Since we are not personal.

by interested in keeping them.
You can make a far more useful distribution of them eventually. So please dispose of the ones you have no use for as you see fit.

Very sincerely yours
Dorthea C. Blandell

Dear Mrs. Blaisdell:

Thank you very much for turning the coins over to us. We shall eventually make good use of them.

Yours very truly,

Curator.
